
Anyone around?

Posted by bearbqd - 2008/04/20 06:02

Hey there folks. I guess this site is brand new or there aren't that many button collectors out there. I'm not an avid collector per se. I just happen to have a growing assortment of buttons from my metal detecting activities. I downloaded a list of known vintage makers recently, but some of the buttons I have are not on the list. I was hoping to get some help identifying them from members on this site. I frequently run across buttons that don't necessarily have a maker on them, but have the words extra gilt or most recently double gilt. The double gilt one still has a lot of gold gilt on the back, but is a flat face button. Maybe it is just the back half of a more decorative button. I don't know for sure. The unidentified maker on one of the others has the names Wallis & Lloyd on it. Are these makers familiar to anyone? I'll try to get some pics up, but my camera isn't the best so I wouldn't be able to get a lot of detail to show. Thanks for any help.

=====